Reasons To Buy:

▲ Upbeat Q2 View Boosts Stock: Shares of Aaron's have gained 104.1% in the past three months compared with the industry's 52.2% growth. The stock's bullish run on the bourses can be attributable to encouraging second-quarter 2020 guidance, which includes the disruptions caused by the pandemic. Notably, revenues are forecasted between $975 million and $1 billion in the second quarter. Adjusted earnings are also envisioned to be 80-85 cents per share. Management expects revenues and earnings in the third and fourth quarters to be significantly better sequentially, driven by the improving trajectory of its lease origination activity.

Aaron's Progressive segment continues to generate growth, driven by higher invoice volume and a solid customer base. The segment's revenues grew 25.8% year over year in first-quarter 2020.

With Progressive's retail partners reopening their stores, invoice volumes are showing signs of improvement. Going ahead, management expects this trend to continue. In fact, invoice volumes are envisioned to be flat to down low-single digits during the second quarter. The company also noted that the segment will not incur any costs related to COVID-19 in the said quarter. Further, revenues in the Aaron's segment are projected to decline 15% year over year due to COVID-19 impacts realized in April 2020. Same-store revenues are anticipated to be down 1.5-2.5%. Also, it highlighted that write-offs related to COVID-19 are likely to improve by almost 100 basis points (bps) year over year in the second quarter. This reflects a significant rise on a sequential basis. Apart from these, no charges associated with COVID-19 will be incurred in the second quarter.

▲ Solid Q1 Results: Aaron's reported better-than-expected results in first-quarter 2020, wherein the top line improved year over year. Revenue growth was mainly backed by an increase in Progressive revenues, partly offset by soft revenues at the Aaron's Business segment. Further, the company's earnings surpassed the Zacks Consensus Estimate for the second straight quarter. Moreover, management is encouraged by higher customer payments in April as well as improving trajectory of its lease origination activity in the past few weeks.

▲ Robust Progressive Business Performance: Aaron's has been experiencing continued strength in its Progressive segment, which covers the virtual lease-to-own business. The segment has been performing exceedingly well for quite some time now, backed by robust growth in invoice volume and a solid customer base. In first-quarter 2020, the segment's revenues increased 25.8% year over year. Invoice volumes rose 13.4%, owing to a 2.9% rise in invoice volume per active door and a 10.2% increase in active doors to roughly 21,800. As of Mar 31, 2020, the division had 998,000 customers, reflecting 15.6% growth year over year. Further, the segment's EBITDA was $70.2 million, up 7.5% from the year-ago quarter.

▲ Financial Flexibility: Aaron's boasts a healthy balance sheet, which enables it to invest in the business and reward shareholders. As of Mar 31, 2020, the company had cash and cash equivalents of $551 million compared with $57.8 million as of Dec 31, 2019. The cash balance at the end of the first quarter included $300 million from a partial draw down of its revolving credit facility. Aaron's total debt of $646.1 million as of Mar 31, 2020, surged 89.4% on a sequential basis. Its debt-to-capitalization ratio of 0.31 represents a significant sequential increase from 0.16 as of Dec 31, 2019. However, the debt-to-capitalization ratio compares favorably with the industry's ratio of 0.69.

In April, the company paid $60 million in scheduled debt amortization, $175 million to satisfy its settlement with the FTC, and $300 million to pay down its revolving credit facility in full. Consequently, as of April 30, it had a cash balance of $136.5 million, total debt of $287 million and available liquidity of roughly $620 million.

▲ Shareholder Returns: Aaron's financial position helps it to make capital investments alongside returning excess cash to shareholders via dividends and share buybacks. During the first quarter, the company did not repurchase shares but paid out dividends worth $2.7 million. This clearly underscores the company's commitment toward rewarding shareholders. Moreover, management declared quarterly cash dividend of 4 cents, payable on Jul 7. Notably, Aaron's has a dividend payout ratio of 4.4%, annualized dividend yield of 0.44% and free cash flow yield of 12.5%.

▲ Aaron's Business Transformation on Track: The Aaron's business is progressing well with its transformational initiatives over the past few years. These initiatives are likely to bring the segment back to sustainable long-term growth in revenue and earnings, through investments in activities to improve customer experience, operating efficiencies, compliance and employee engagement. Additionally, the company's e-commerce site (Aarons.com) has witnessed significant growth in the past few years and is attracting new and younger customers. E-commerce sales grew 23.4% year over year in the first quarter with the metric rising more than 50% in April, as only online business remained operational amid the coronavirus outbreak. Robust traffic and higher conversion rates in April primarily aided e-commerce growth.

Reasons To Sell:

- ▼ COVID-19 Compels to Withdraw Outlook: In the wake of the coronavirus pandemic and the uncertainty surrounding the timing of its impacts, Aaron's earlier withdrew its 2020 guidance. It had also suspended franchise royalty payments worth $1.1 million in March and $2.1 million in April.
- ▼ Soft Aaron's Business: The Aaron's Business segment has been grappling with soft conditions for a while now. This segment's total revenues fell 9.8% to $432.8 million, mainly due to net reduction of 183 outlets for the 15 months ended Mar 30 and lower lease portfolio balance impact. Moreover, same-store revenues and customer count on a same-store basis declined 4.6% and 6.4%, respectively. Non-retail sales tumbled 27.4% on a year-over-year basis. Lease revenues and fees for the three months ended Mar 31, 2020, declined 7.5% from the year-ago quarter. At the quarter-end, the company-operated Aaron's stores had 902,000 customers, reflecting a 9.1% year-over-year drop. Persistent decline in this segment may be a threat to the company's top line.
- ▼ Decline in Franchisee Revenues: Aaron's franchisee revenues declined 14.7% to $102.6 million. Same-store revenues for franchised stores decreased 5.2% and same-store customer counts dropped 6.7% in the reported quarter. Notably, the company's franchisees had a customer base of 220,000 at the end of the quarter.
- ▼ Intense Competition: Aaron's faces stiff competition from a diverse group of competitors including national, regional and local providers of lease-to-own stores, virtual lease-to-own operators, traditional and e-commerce players, as well as consumer finance companies. In addition, the company competes with retail stores for customers purchasing merchandise for cash or on credit. A challenging retail landscape, aggressive promotional strategies and waning store traffic might hurt Aaron's performance. This may adversely affect both top and bottom-line performances.

Aaron's withdrew its 2020 guidance, given the unprecedented impacts of the outbreak. Also, sluggishness in franchisee business and the Aaron's Business unit remains a concern.

Zacks Stock Rating System

We offer two rating systems that take into account investors' holding horizons: Zacks Rank and Zacks Recommendation. Each provides valuable insights into the future profitability of the stock and can be used separately or in combination with each other depending on your investment style.

Zacks Recommendation

The Zacks Recommendation aims to predict performance over the next 6 to 12 months. The foundation for the quantitatively determined Zacks Recommendation is trends in the company's estimate revisions and earnings outlook. The Zacks Recommendation is broken down into 3 Levels; Outperform, Neutral and Underperform. Unlike many Wall Street firms, we have an excellent balance between the number of Outperform and Neutral recommendations. Our team of 70 analysts are fully versed in the benefits of earnings estimate revisions and how that is harnessed through the Zacks quantitative rating system. But we have given our analysts the ability to override the Zacks Recommendation for the 1200 stocks that they follow. The reason for the analyst over-rides is that there are often factors such as valuation, industry conditions and management effectiveness that a trained investment professional can spot better than a quantitative model.

Zacks Rank

The Zacks Rank is our short-term rating system that is most effective over the one- to three-month holding horizon. The underlying driver for the quantitatively-determined Zacks Rank is the same as the Zacks Recommendation, and reflects trends in earnings estimate revisions.

Zacks Style Scores

The Zacks Style Score is as a complementary indicator to the Zacks rating system, giving investors a way to focus on the highest rated stocks that best fit their own stock picking preferences.

Academic research has proven that stocks with the best Value, Growth and Momentum characteristics outperform the market. The Zacks Style Scores rate stocks on each of these individual styles and assigns a rating of A, B, C, D and F. We also produce the VGM Score (V for Value, G for Growth and M for Momentum), which combines the weighted average of the individual Style Scores into one score. This is perfectly suited for those who want their stocks to have the best scores across the board.

Value Score	A
Growth Score	A
Momentum Score	C
VGM Score	A

As an investor, you want to buy stocks with the highest probability of success. That means buying stocks with a Zacks Recommendation of Outperform, which also has a Style Score of an A or a B.
