Summary

Shares of Acadia Healthcare have outperformed its industry in a year. Its top line showed an increasing trend over the years, driven by organic and inorganic growth. The company is well-poised to fund new bed developments, given its impressive balance sheet. Acadia Healthcare has been focused on acquisitions, which are expected to add scale to business, positioning it for long-term growth in the healthcare sector. The company has been generating positive cash from operations over the years, which provides the company financial flexibility to pursue acquisitions and growth-related activities. However, rising expenses and high labor costs weigh on margins. Its U.K. business remains challenged with weak census and pressures related to nurse staffing. The withdrawal of 2020 earnings guidance due to uncertainty related to COVID-19 bothers us.

Overview

Headquartered in Franklin, TN, Acadia Healthcare Company, Inc. (ACHC) provides behavioral health care services in the United States and the United Kingdom.

The U.S. segment, which contributed 65% of total 2019 revenues, includes acute inpatient psychiatric facilities; specialty treatment facilities; residential treatment centers; and outpatient community-based services.

At Dec 31, 2019, the company's U.S. Facilities included 224 behavioral healthcare facilities with approximately 9,500 beds in 40 states and Puerto Rico. Out of its U.S. Facilities, excluding comprehensive treatment centers, approximately 43% are acute inpatient psychiatric facilities, approximately 41% are specialty treatment facilities, approximately 13% are residential treatment centers and approximately 3% are outpatient community-based facilities at Dec 31, 2019.

Its U.K. business contributed 35% of 2019 revenues. It consists of Acadia Healthcare's facilities, which are classified into: Healthcare facilities, Education and Child Services, Adult Care facilities and Elderly Care facilities. At Dec 31, 2019, the company operated 585 facilities in 40 states, the U.K. and Puerto Rico.

For the services rendered in its facilities, the company receives payments from (i) state governments under their respective Medicaid and other programs; (ii) commercial insurers; (iii) the federal government under the Medicare program administered by CMS; (iv) public funded sources in the U.K. (including the NHS, CCGs and local authorities in England, Scotland and Wales); and (v) individual patients and clients.

Reasons To Buy:

▲ Top-Line Growth: The company's operating performance has been favorable over the years. Its revenues witnessed a CAGR of 40% from 2012 to 2018 on the back of strong organic and inorganic growth. During the year ended Dec 31, 2019, the company added 585 beds (exclusive of acquisitions). The company added 78 beds to its U.S. operations during the first quarter. It is working to open three de novos facilities later in 2020 including two facilities with joint venture partners. Though there remains an element of uncertainty regarding revenue growth in the face of the ongoing pandemic, we, however, believe that demand for the company's services for mental health and substance use treatment is not discretionary or elective, which should not hurt the company's revenue growth significantly.

Accretive acquisitions, strong top and bottomline growth, solid balance sheet should drive long term growth.

▲ Acquisitions Fueling Inorganic Growth: Acadia Healthcare has been emphasizing acquisitions for expedited growth. Buyouts have added facilities, beds and hospitals to the company's network and contributed to its top line. The company remains actively engaged with its acquisition pipeline and expects buyout and joint venture activity to be heavily skewed toward acute facilities in the United States. It is well positioned to fund its new bed development and acquisition activity given its strong capital position. The company's acquisitions are expected to add scale to its business, positioning it better to weather the regulatory uncertainties in the healthcare sector. The company is also making opportunistic acquisitions to expand in the behavioral healthcare industry in the United States. To this end, in 2019, it completed the acquisitions of Bradford Recovery Center, a specialty treatment facility and Whittier Pavilion, an inpatient psychiatric facility.

▲ Strong Balance Sheet: Acadia Healthcare has been generating positive cash from operations over the years. Consistent cash generation provides the company ample scope to pursue acquisitions and financial flexibility to pursue growth related activities. Low maintenance capex requirements should yield strong free cash flow.

▲ Share Price Performance: Shares of the company have outperformed its industry in a year. Moreover, its strong fundamentals should continue the rally going forward.

Risks

- Rising Expenses: The company has been witnessing rising expenses since 2009, inducing margin contraction. In the first quarter of 2020, expenses were up 2.6%. The company's expenses would remain elevated as it continues to invest in inorganic growth strategies, which might drag margins. The company has, however, focused on implementing initiatives to improve operational efficiencies. It expects to achieve approximately $20 million in annualized cost savings by the end of 2020.
 - High Debt: The company's leverage, as measured by debt-to-equity ratio, has been rising consistently over the years. Its debt-to-equity ratio is 147.9, which implies that debt level is more than equity. Its high leverage raises financial risk along with weighing on margins. Also, its interest coverage ratio of 1.77 looks weak compared with the industry average of 2.87.
 - Suspension of Sale of U.K Business: The company has suspended activities related to the sale of its U.K. operations because of the current economic environment, which might not fetch a fair price for the transaction now. The separation of its underperforming U.K. operations was one of the strategic steps undertaken by the company to improve its profitability, and achieve growth by focusing on more profitable business. This business has been underperforming over the years and negatively impacting the company's growth. Also, the funds generated from this sale was to be put to use to improve its debt position.

Zacks Stock Rating System

We offer two rating systems that take into account investors' holding horizons: Zacks Rank and Zacks Recommendation. Each provides valuable insights into the future profitability of the stock and can be used separately or in combination with each other depending on your investment style.

Zacks Recommendation

The Zacks Recommendation aims to predict performance over the next 6 to 12 months. The foundation for the quantitatively determined Zacks Recommendation is trends in the company's estimate revisions and earnings outlook. The Zacks Recommendation is broken down into 3 Levels; Outperform, Neutral and Underperform. Unlike many Wall Street firms, we have an excellent balance between the number of Outperform and Neutral recommendations. Our team of 70 analysts are fully versed in the benefits of earnings estimate revisions and how that is harnessed through the Zacks quantitative rating system. But we have given our analysts the ability to override the Zacks Recommendation for the 1200 stocks that they follow. The reason for the analyst over-rides is that there are often factors such as valuation, industry conditions and management effectiveness that a trained investment professional can spot better than a quantitative model.

Zacks Rank

The Zacks Rank is our short-term rating system that is most effective over the one- to three-month holding horizon. The underlying driver for the quantitatively-determined Zacks Rank is the same as the Zacks Recommendation, and reflects trends in earnings estimate revisions.

Zacks Style Scores

The Zacks Style Score is as a complementary indicator to the Zacks rating system, giving investors a way to focus on the highest rated stocks that best fit their own stock picking preferences.

Academic research has proven that stocks with the best Value, Growth and Momentum characteristics outperform the market. The Zacks Style Scores rate stocks on each of these individual styles and assigns a rating of A, B, C, D and F. We also produce the VGM Score (V for Value, G for Growth and M for Momentum), which combines the weighted average of the individual Style Scores into one score. This is perfectly suited for those who want their stocks to have the best scores across the board.

Value Score	B
Growth Score	D
Momentum Score	D
VGM Score	C

As an investor, you want to buy stocks with the highest probability of success. That means buying stocks with a Zacks Recommendation of Outperform, which also has a Style Score of an A or a B.
