Summary

Ensign Group's latest spin-off of its home health and hospice business is expected to help it meet the patients' requirements as well as enhance shareholder's value. Its historical growth has been driven by its expertise in acquiring real estate or leasing post-acute care operations and transforming them into market leaders. Its inorganic strategies have consistently boosted its revenue base and a solid financial health enables it to enhance shareholder value. Frequent share repurchases and dividend payments at regular intervals have helped it retain investors' confidence in this stock. Its shares have lost lower than its industry in a year's time. However, the company has been suffering from rising expenses that keep draining its bottom line. High-debt levels persistently raise its interest expenses.

Overview

Founded in 1999 and headquartered in Mission Viejo, CA, The Ensign Group Inc. provides health care services in the post-acute care continuum, urgent care center and mobile ancillary businesses in the U.S.

The company provides health care services across the post-acute care continuum and ancillary businesses in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Nevada, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming. As of Dec 31, 2019, it offered skilled nursing, senior living and rehabilitative care services through 223 skilled nursing and senior living facilities. Of the 223 facilities, the company operated 161 facilities under long-term lease arrangements with options to purchase 11 of those 161 facilities. It also owned an additional 90 real estate properties.

Recently, the company authorized the separation of its home health and hospice business and also all its senior living operations from the parent company into a separate publicly traded entity. On its completion, there are two different companies, namely The Ensign Group, Inc. that will consist of the transitional and skilled services, rehabilitative care services, healthcare campuses, post-acute-related new business endeavors and real estate investments, and The Pennant Group, Inc., which will comprise the company's home health and hospice business line and substantially, all its senior living operations.

The company now operates through two services lines, namely Transitional and Skilled Services and Other.

Transitional and Skilled Services: As of Dec 31, 2019, its skilled nursing companies provided skilled nursing care at 213 operations with 22,625 operational beds in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Nevada, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin.

Other: This service line consists of senior living operations, real estate properties, mobile diagnostics and other ancillary operations.

Reasons To Buy:

- ▲ Solid Outlook: For the full year, share guidance is expected between $2.50 and 2.58 per share, up from the earlier band of $2.22-$2.30 per share. The company expects revenues in the $2.42-$2.45 billion band, up from the $2.30-$2.35 bracket. This strong guidance should instill investor's confidence in the company.
- ▲ Inorganic Growth: The company boasts a strong inorganic growth story with several acquisitions in the past decade. Its historical growth has been mainly driven by its expertise in acquiring real estate or leasing post-acute care operations and transforming them into market leaders. With each acquisition, the company had sharpened its expertise, both clinically and financially. Ensign continues to actively seek transactions to acquire real estate and to lease both well-performing and struggling skilled nursing, assisted living and other healthcare related businesses in new and existing markets. During 2019, it expanded its portfolio with 22 stand-alone skilled nursing operations, one stand-alone senior living operation and four campus operations. These operations added a total of 3,142 operational skilled nursing beds and 407 operational senior living units. We expect all these buyouts to bode well for the long haul.
- ▲ Growing Revenues: The Ensign Group's top line has been growing since 2012. Revenues witnessed a six-year CAGR (2012-18) of 16.3%. This upside continued in 2019 with the metric rising 16.1% year over year, driven by both its Medicaid and Medicare businesses. The company's growth strategies and acquisitions are likely to drive the top line. It also anticipates 2020 annual revenues in the band of $2.42-$2.45 billion, the midpoint indicating an upside of 6.3% from the year-ago reported figure.
- ▲ Efficient Capital Deployment: The company has been taking up several initiatives in order to efficiently deploy capital. Frequent share repurchases and dividend payments at regular intervals have helped the company retain investors' confidence in this stock. Ensign Group has been a dividend-paying company since 2002 and has increased its payout annually for the past 17 years. The company's dividend yield stands at 0.6%, higher than the industry average of 0.4%. We believe the company's financial strength to continue buoying investors' confidence in the stock.
- ▲ Divestiture: The company recently separated its home health and hospice business into a separate publicly-traded company. This spin-off is expected to meet the patients' requirements and also be beneficial to the shareholders. The company hopes that it will be able to add value to its home health, senior living and hospice business line from this spin-off. We expect this divestiture to enable Ensign Group to focus on its core operations.
- ▲ Price Performance: In a year's time, shares of Ensign Group have lost 24%, lower than its industry's decline of 33%. Its solid fundamentals such as divestitures and growing revenues should help the stock bounce back going forward.

Promising Post-Acute Care industry, competitive strength, inorganic growth, strong underwriting Results and efficient capital deployment pave the way for long term growth.

Risks

- High Financial Leverage: The Ensign Group's long-term debt level has been rising since 2011. Although in 2014, it dipped to some extent owing to an early retirement of certain long-term debt agreements, it started increasing again from 2015 onward. The company's interest expenses have also been rising since 2015. In 2019, interest expense of the company inched up 3.2% year over year. Also, its current debt to equity ratio came in at 205.2%. An increase in financial leverage and low interest coverage raise financial risk.
 - Rising Expenses: The company has been witnessing a persistent increase in total expenses since 2012. The same was up 8.2% year over year in 2018 due to higher cost of services, selling, general & administrative expenses, etc. Expenses again rose 14.2% year over year in 2019 due to higher cost of services, general and administrative expenses and rent-cost of services. The rising trend in expenses continues to hurt the company, denting its bottom line.
 - Overvalued: The stock is trading at a premium to its industry average. Its current price-to-sales value stands at 0.8x, much above the industry's average of 0.4x. This makes its valuation expensive.

Zacks Stock Rating System

We offer two rating systems that take into account investors' holding horizons: Zacks Rank and Zacks Recommendation. Each provides valuable insights into the future profitability of the stock and can be used separately or in combination with each other depending on your investment style.

Zacks Recommendation

The Zacks Recommendation aims to predict performance over the next 6 to 12 months. The foundation for the quantitatively determined Zacks Recommendation is trends in the company's estimate revisions and earnings outlook. The Zacks Recommendation is broken down into 3 Levels; Outperform, Neutral and Underperform. Unlike many Wall Street firms, we have an excellent balance between the number of Outperform and Neutral recommendations. Our team of 70 analysts are fully versed in the benefits of earnings estimate revisions and how that is harnessed through the Zacks quantitative rating system. But we have given our analysts the ability to override the Zacks Recommendation for the 1200 stocks that they follow. The reason for the analyst over-rides is that there are often factors such as valuation, industry conditions and management effectiveness that a trained investment professional can spot better than a quantitative model.

Zacks Rank

The Zacks Rank is our short-term rating system that is most effective over the one- to three-month holding horizon. The underlying driver for the quantitatively-determined Zacks Rank is the same as the Zacks Recommendation, and reflects trends in earnings estimate revisions.

Zacks Style Scores

The Zacks Style Score is as a complementary indicator to the Zacks rating system, giving investors a way to focus on the highest rated stocks that best fit their own stock picking preferences.

Academic research has proven that stocks with the best Value, Growth and Momentum characteristics outperform the market. The Zacks Style Scores rate stocks on each of these individual styles and assigns a rating of A, B, C, D and F. We also produce the VGM Score (V for Value, G for Growth and M for Momentum), which combines the weighted average of the individual Style Scores into one score. This is perfectly suited for those who want their stocks to have the best scores across the board.

Value Score	B
Growth Score	A
Momentum Score	B
VGM Score	A

As an investor, you want to buy stocks with the highest probability of success. That means buying stocks with a Zacks Recommendation of Outperform, which also has a Style Score of an A or a B.
