Summary

LogMeIn's fourth-quarter results reflect solid growth in the Identity and Access Management segment and strong contribution of international revenues. The company is also gaining from strong performance of its growth products Jive and LastPass. Improvement in product quality and performance, multiple product launches and increasing marketing efforts in support of the company's new GoTo brand is a positive. The newly launched GoToConnect and GoToRoom products also make the management optimistic about the stock's prospects. The expansion of its product portfolio coupled with its rising sales initiatives is expected to accelerate its growth momentum in major markets, namely UCC, IDaaS and Digital Engagement, going forward. However, intensifying competition from Zoom, Adobe Connect, Google and Microsoft Skype raises concerns.

Overview

LogMeIn, headquartered near Boston in Woburn, MA, is a leading provider of on-demand, remote-connectivity and support solutions to small businesses, IT service providers and consumers. The company has additional locations in North America, South America, Europe, Asia and Australia.

LogMeIn's software-as-a-service (SaaS) suite of solutions includes capabilities for on-demand customer support of PCs, smartphones and other devices, systems administration, remote access, remote control, file-sharing, virtual private networking, data back-up and online meeting.

The company's cloud-based services can be categorized into three business lines:

Unified Communications and Collaboration (56% of 2018 revenues) portfolio consists of solutions like GoToConference — a video and audio conferencing solution; GoToMeeting — a product for online meetings, sales demonstrations and collaborative gatherings; GoToTraining — an online training product; GoToWebinar — a do-it-yourself Webinar product for companies; Grasshopper, Jive, join.me and OpenVoice.

Identity and Access Management (29%) portfolio include web-based management console LogMeIn Central, premium remote access service LogMeIn Pro, password management and single sign on (SSO) solution LastPass and GoToMyPC which provides secure, remote access to a PC or Mac.

Customer Engagement and Support (15%) portfolio has omni-channel engagement platform —Bold360; and an automated customer service, help-desk and CRM platform — Bold360 ai; RescueAssist, GoToAssist Corporate and GoToAssist Seeit — which provide cloud-based remote support solutions to remotely troubleshoot and fix computers, mobile devices and apps etc; and LogMeIn Rescue.

In 2018, the company delivered revenues of $1.2 billion. Geographically, LogMeIn generates majority of its revenues from the United States which contributed 77.5% to 2018 revenues. The U.K. and all other International market contributed 4.6% and 17.9%, respectively.

The company derives revenues, primarily on the back of customers' subscription fees, ranging from individual consumers to small and medium businesses (SMBs) and multi-national enterprises.

Reasons To Buy:

▲ LogMeIn has resorted to acquisitions to enhance its capabilities and tap the solid growth opportunities in newer markets. Since its listing on the NASDAQ Stock Exchange, the company has acquired as many as eight companies, opening up new avenues of growth. For example, the acquisition of Bold Software helped LogMeIn offer additional features and capabilities. Later on, the buyout of Zamurai in 2015 brought the join.me app to its kitty which helped LogMeIn expand its capabilities in the collaboration and video conferencing area. The acquisition of GetGo assets from Citrix in 2017 and the recently-acquired Jive Communications further strengthen its position in the collaboration space. These acquisitions have helped LogMeIn expand its total addressable market (TAM) and solidify the company's presence in the broad IT support market.

Strategic acquisitions, product strength and a healthy balance sheet bode well for LogMeIn

▲ We believe the recent acquisition of Jive Communications to have provided the missing links in the Unified Communications and Collaborations (UCC) space for LogMeIn. Jive Communications, which offers cloud-based phone systems and Unified Communications (UC) services, is one of the fastest growing companies in the Unified Communications-as-a-Service (UCaaS) space. Therefore, apart from bolstering its existing communications and collaboration portfolio, the buyout will assist LogMeIn to enter into the business telephony market. With the integration of Jive Communications' services with the company's existing offerings, like GoToMeeting, GoToTraining, GoToWebinar, OpenVoice, Grasshopper and join.me, LogMeIn will have now a large cross-sell opportunity. Also, with this buyout the company will now be able to accelerate its own UCaaS strategy.

▲ LogMeIn has a debt free balance sheet with cash and cash equivalents of $119.2 million as of Sep 30, 2019. Furthermore, during the third quarter of 2019, the company generated $88.1 million of adjusted cash flow from operational activities and $69.6 million of adjusted free cash flow. This provides LogMeIn with ample liquidity for pursuing strategic acquisitions, investment in growth initiatives and distribution to its shareholders.

Reasons To Sell:

- ▼ The market in which LogMeIn operates is continuously evolving and competition is intensifying with each passing year. In the last few quarters, the popularity of Slack and Zoom has increased immensely which may pose a threat to LogMeIn in the form of pricing, as well as getting new or renewal of contracts. Adobe Connect, Amazon, Cisco Systems' WebEx division, Google and Microsoft Skype are some of LogMeIn's major competitors. The company's audio services compete with products from AT&T, BT, Intercall, PGI, RingCentral, Verizon and Vonage. This apart, some of the company's services face competition from similar types of solutions provided by organizations like AgileBits, Apple, BlueJeans Networks, Box, Dashlane, Dropbox, GFI, IBM, KeePass, LivePerson, OKTA, Oracle, Splashtop, TeamViewer and Zoom Video Communications.
- ▼ To remain competitive, the company spends significantly on sales & marketing expense, which increased from $88.8 million in 2013 to $383 million in 2018. The company also raised its research & development (R&D) spending in 2018. Although the spending is necessary to generate revenues, stiff competition is likely to hurt its pricing power, putting margins under pressure.
- ▼ LogMeIn continues to acquire a large number of companies. While this improves revenue growth opportunities, business mix and profitability, it also adds to integration risks. Moreover, frequent acquisitions are a distraction for management, which could impact organic growth, moving ahead.

Increasing expenses and stiff competition remain primary headwinds.

Zacks Style Scores

The Zacks Style Score is as a complementary indicator to the Zacks rating system, giving investors a way to focus on the highest rated stocks that best fit their own stock picking preferences.

Academic research has proven that stocks with the best Value, Growth and Momentum characteristics outperform the market. The Zacks Style Scores rate stocks on each of these individual styles and assigns a rating of A, B, C, D and F. We also produce the VGM Score (V for Value, G for Growth and M for Momentum), which combines the weighted average of the individual Style Scores into one score. This is perfectly suited for those who want their stocks to have the best scores across the board.

Value Score	C
Growth Score	B
Momentum Score	A
VGM Score	B

As an investor, you want to buy stocks with the highest probability of success. That means buying stocks with a Zacks Recommendation of Outperform, which also has a Style Score of an A or a B.
