Summary

A balanced approach to organic and inorganic growth has enabled Rollins to achieve a decent revenue growth over the past several years. Organic revenue growth rate is being driven by strong technician and customer retention. Strategic acquisitions enable Rollins to operate across the world. Further, consistent dividend payment underscores the company's commitment to shareholders and underline its confidence in business. This has postively impacted the share price that has increased over the past year. The company has been maintaining a consistent track record of rewarding shareholders through dividends. On the flip side, acquisitions and IT related expenses are likely to weigh on the company's bottom line. An increasing debt to capitalization ratio indicates that the proportion of debt to finance the company's assets is on the rise.

Overview

Headquartered in Atlanta, GA, Rollins provides pest and termite control services to residential and commercial customers.

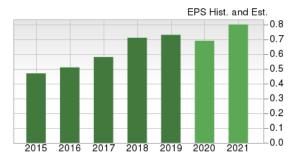

The company offers protection against termite damage, insects and rodents to homes and businesses, including food manufacturers, food service establishments, hotels, transportation companies and retailers.

Rollins also offers pest management and sanitation products and services to food and commodity industries; consulting services on border protection related to Australia's biosecurity program; and bird control and specialist services.

It offers specialized services to mining, and oil and gas sectors. The company's offerings also include mosquito control, wildlife, lawn care insurance and HVAC services.

Rollins operates through wholly-owned subsidiaries in North America, Australia and Europe. The company has international franchises in Central America, the Caribbean, the Middle East, the Mediterranean, Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, Canada and Mexico.

Rollins, which has been in operation since 1948, has three lines of businesses — commercial pest control, residential pest control and termite and ancillary. The company has one of the largest residential customer base, which provides significant cross-sell opportunity.

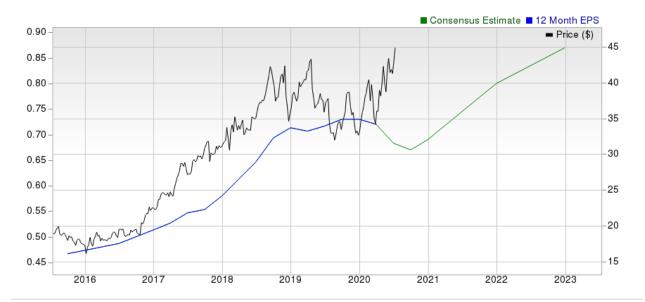

As a result of increase in pest presence and activity as well as metamorphosis of termites in spring and summer, revenues remain considerably higher in the second and the third quarter compared with the first and the fourth quarter.

The company has a single reportable segment — the pest and termite control. It generated $2 billion in revenues in 2019 compared with $1.8 billion generated in 2018 and $1.7 billion in 2017. Rollins continues to seek international opportunities through acquisitions.

Acquisition is a key growth strategy for Rollins which allows it to operate in around 57 countries. It acquired 30 companies in 2019 and 38 in 2018. As of Jan 31, 2020, the number of persons employed by the company was approximately 15,000.

The company maintains close relationship with a number of universities for research and validation of treatment procedures and material selection.

Reasons To Buy:

2017 it acquired 23 companies.

▲ Demand environment for this building maintenance servicer remains in good shape driven by higher government spending and decent construction activity. This has postively impacted the share price that has increased 24.1% over the past year.

Rollins is a consistent dividend payer with a balanced approach organic and inorganic growth.

A Rollins' revenues witnessed a decent growth over the past five years. A balanced approach to organic and inorganic growth is the key to this success. The company's organic revenue growth rate is healthy driven by strong technician and customer retention. Enhancing benefits are expected to improve employee and customer retention for the upcoming years. Furthermore, strategic acquisitions now allow Rollins to operate in around 57 countries. In 2019, Rollins completed 30 acquisitions. In 2018, the company acquired 38 companies and in ▲ Rollins believes in returning capital through dividends. Consistent dividend payment underscores the company's commitment to shareholders and underline its confidence in business. The company paid dividends of $153.8 million, $152.7 million and $122 million in 2019, 2018 and 2017 repectively.

Reasons To Sell:

▼ Rollins is witnessing escalation in costs resulting from acquisitions and IT related expenses. In addition, the company's subsidiaries are embroiled with a number of lawsuits, claims or arbitrations that allege its services caused damage. This is further adding to costs. Hence, the company's bottom line is likely to remain under pressure going forward.

Rising costs and adverse weather conditions are headwinds to Rollins financial performance.

- ▼ Rollins' debt level has increased significantly quarter over quarter. Total debt at the end of first-quarter 2020 was $244 million, up from the $214 million recorded at the end of the prior quarter. The total debt to total capital ratio of 0.29 was higher than the previous quarter's 0.26. An increasing debt to capitalization ratio indicates that the proportion of debt to finance the company's assets is on the rise and so is the risk of insolvency. Further, cash and cash equivalent balance of $93 million at the end of the first quarter was well below the debt level, underscoring that the company doesn't have enough cash to meet this debt burden. The cash level, however, can meet the short-term debt of $13 million.
- ▼ Rollins' policy of acquiring a large number of companies could result in some integration risks. Acquisitions can negatively impact its balance sheet in the form of a high level of goodwill and intangible assets, which totaled $991 million or 56% of total assets at the end of the first quarter 2020. Moreover, frequent acquisitions are a distraction for management, which could impact organic growth.

Zacks Stock Rating System

We offer two rating systems that take into account investors' holding horizons: Zacks Rank and Zacks Recommendation. Each provides valuable insights into the future profitability of the stock and can be used separately or in combination with each other depending on your investment style.

Zacks Recommendation

The Zacks Recommendation aims to predict performance over the next 6 to 12 months. The foundation for the quantitatively determined Zacks Recommendation is trends in the company's estimate revisions and earnings outlook. The Zacks Recommendation is broken down into 3 Levels; Outperform, Neutral and Underperform. Unlike many Wall Street firms, we have an excellent balance between the number of Outperform and Neutral recommendations. Our team of 70 analysts are fully versed in the benefits of earnings estimate revisions and how that is harnessed through the Zacks quantitative rating system. But we have given our analysts the ability to override the Zacks Recommendation for the 1200 stocks that they follow. The reason for the analyst over-rides is that there are often factors such as valuation, industry conditions and management effectiveness that a trained investment professional can spot better than a quantitative model.

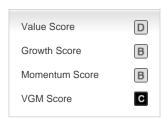

Zacks Rank

The Zacks Rank is our short-term rating system that is most effective over the one- to three-month holding horizon. The underlying driver for the quantitatively-determined Zacks Rank is the same as the Zacks Recommendation, and reflects trends in earnings estimate revisions.

Zacks Style Scores

The Zacks Style Score is as a complementary indicator to the Zacks rating system, giving investors a way to focus on the highest rated stocks that best fit their own stock picking preferences.

Academic research has proven that stocks with the best Value, Growth and Momentum characteristics outperform the market. The Zacks Style Scores rate stocks on each of these individual styles and assigns a rating of A, B, C, D and F. We also produce the VGM Score (V for Value, G for Growth and M for Momentum), which combines the weighted average of the individual Style Scores into one score. This is perfectly suited for those who want their stocks to have the best scores across the board.

As an investor, you want to buy stocks with the highest probability of success. That means buying stocks with a Zacks Recommendation of Outperform, which also has a Style Score of an A or a B.
