Summary

Wix.com first-quarter results reflect growing user and premium subscription base, amid strong growth in online selling activity amid coronavirus crisis-induced Internet demand. Moreover, it anticipates solid uptick in Wix by Ascend, in the second quarter. Further, management is banking on strong growth in selling activity of businesses with robust growth in gross merchandise value (GMV) transacted on Wix. Also, the company continues to launch several user-friendly applications for meeting the requirements of a dynamic retail environment, evidently adding to its user base, which is a positive. Notably, shares of the company have outperformed the industry on a year-to-date basis. Nevertheless, rising investments in product development, infrastructure and platform will further increase expenses, thereby keeping margins stressed.

Creative Subscriptions and Business Solutions contributed 81.7% and 18.3% to total first-quarter revenues of $216 million.

The company also started providing Annualized Recurring Revenue (ARR) as the primary KPI for growth of its Creative Subscriptions segment. As of Mar 31, 2020, Creative Subscriptions ARR was $739.5 million, up 19% year over year.

Reasons To Buy:

- ▲ The National Retail Federation (NRF) said that it expects retail sales to climb higher than what had been earlier projected. Spending at retailers for this year is predicted to grow in the range of 3.5-4.1%, amounting to $3.9 trillion. Moreover, strong growth in e-commerce spending bodes well for Wix. The company's cloud-based platform is well-positioned to address the growing needs of merchants at a time when social media, cloud computing, mobile devices and data analytics are transforming the e-commerce marketplace.
- ▲ Wix continues to add functionality to its platform, which is responsible for driving merchant base. Of late, consumers are gravitating toward mobile devices, businesses, organizations and professionals for websites and dynamic digital presence that helps in interacting with customers, suppliers, partners and employees online and in real time. Consequently, demand for high-level customer engagement products and services are increasing. The company offers web development, design, solutions and apps via online platform that enables businesses, organizations, professionals and individuals to create digital presence. Through registration, users can access company's Wix Editor, Wix ADI and Corvid by Wix capabilities. These tools help users to enhance their digital presence. We believe there is a significant opportunity for the company to provide a cost-effective solution to aid the increasing demand of businesses, organizations, professionals and individuals in the digital market.
- ▲ Notably, the percentage of registered users using Wix Payments grew every quarter throughout 2019. The company's registered users increased to 172 million as of Mar 31, 2020, up 16% year over year. Wix added a total of 162K net premium subscriptions in the first quarter of 2020, up 12% year over year, to reach 4.7 million as of Mar 31, 2020. Wix continues to launch several user-friendly applications to meet the requirements of a dynamic retail environment, consequently adding to user base. Management anticipates this trend to continue as the company expands shipping partners and add new features. We believe that product innovations and partnership deals will boost user base that will eventually drive top-line growth in 2020.
- ▲ Mobile focus provides significant leverage to Wix. The company's Wix App, a mobile application accessible on iOS and Android, allows users to create and manage content on their websites from a mobile device. We note that the company is benefiting from retail's rapid transition to mobile and social sales channels. We believe that this rapid growth will present significant opportunities for Wix in the long term.
- ▲ Management execution has been good in recent times. The solid net-cash balance of $362 million as of Mar 31, 2020, provides the flexibility required to pursue any growth strategy, whether by way of acquisitions or otherwise. Notably, total debt to total capital of 63.4%, is lower than the industry's figure of 67.4%. Cash flow from operations came in at $35.1 million during the first quarter. Free cash flow was $40 million compared with $37.5 million reported in the prior quarter. The increasing free cash flow trend reflects that the company is making investments in the right direction.

Wix benefits from the launch of several user-friendly applications. Massive growth in e-commerce along with its sound liquidity and cash flow bodes well for Wix.

Reasons To Sell:

- ▼ Wix is relatively a new player in the e-commerce marketplace. Although it is not a direct competitor to behemoths like Alibaba and Amazon, but companies like Shopify and BigCommerce which provide e-commerce software poses threat to Wix. Companies that develop cloud-based software and payments platform like Mindbody and BookingSuite also adds to its competitive woes. Moreover, the company focuses on the small-and-medium sized (SMB) businesses, which are more susceptible to macro-economic headwinds. Both factors present significant risk for its growth prospects.
- ▼ Lack of big-shot international customers is a headwind for Wix. The company doesn't have significant presence in the Asia-Pacific market, which is the fastest growing retail e-commerce market according to eMarketer. Since the developed markets of Europe, America and Canada are already saturated, most of the U.S. companies are looking toward the emerging ones. These new markets offer growth opportunity driven by a larger population and the presence of an affluent middle class. However, lack of foothold in these markets due to difficulties related with payment collections along with legal, economic, tax and political risks that are greater than more developed markets could likely impact Wix. These are the primary headwinds in our view.
- ▼ We believe, increasing investments in product development and heightened level of hiring during 2020 will further escalate expenses, thereby keeping margins under pressure. We also note that Wix has been incurring losses in each fiscal year since its inception and has an accumulated deficit of $443.9 million as of Mar 31, 2020. Despite the improving top line, mounting losses does not bode well for investor confidence.
- ▼ Moreover, the company is trading at premium in terms of Price/Book (P/B). Wix.com currently has a trailing 12-month P/B ratio of 50.88X. This level compares unfavorably with what the industry witnessed in the last year. Additionally, the ratio is higher than the average level of 33.67X and is near the high end of the valuation range in this period. Consequently, the valuation looks slightly stretched from P/B perspective.

Increasing investments on product development, infrastructure and platform is a headwind. Further, lack of significant presence in the Asia-Pacific market and competition from peers remain concerns.

Zacks Stock Rating System

We offer two rating systems that take into account investors' holding horizons: Zacks Rank and Zacks Recommendation. Each provides valuable insights into the future profitability of the stock and can be used separately or in combination with each other depending on your investment style.

Zacks Recommendation

The Zacks Recommendation aims to predict performance over the next 6 to 12 months. The foundation for the quantitatively determined Zacks Recommendation is trends in the company's estimate revisions and earnings outlook. The Zacks Recommendation is broken down into 3 Levels; Outperform, Neutral and Underperform. Unlike many Wall Street firms, we have an excellent balance between the number of Outperform and Neutral recommendations. Our team of 70 analysts are fully versed in the benefits of earnings estimate revisions and how that is harnessed through the Zacks quantitative rating system. But we have given our analysts the ability to override the Zacks Recommendation for the 1200 stocks that they follow. The reason for the analyst over-rides is that there are often factors such as valuation, industry conditions and management effectiveness that a trained investment professional can spot better than a quantitative model.

Zacks Rank

The Zacks Rank is our short-term rating system that is most effective over the one- to three-month holding horizon. The underlying driver for the quantitatively-determined Zacks Rank is the same as the Zacks Recommendation, and reflects trends in earnings estimate revisions.

Zacks Style Scores

The Zacks Style Score is as a complementary indicator to the Zacks rating system, giving investors a way to focus on the highest rated stocks that best fit their own stock picking preferences.

Academic research has proven that stocks with the best Value, Growth and Momentum characteristics outperform the market. The Zacks Style Scores rate stocks on each of these individual styles and assigns a rating of A, B, C, D and F. We also produce the VGM Score (V for Value, G for Growth and M for Momentum), which combines the weighted average of the individual Style Scores into one score. This is perfectly suited for those who want their stocks to have the best scores across the board.

Value Score	F
Growth Score	A
Momentum Score	F
VGM Score	D

As an investor, you want to buy stocks with the highest probability of success. That means buying stocks with a Zacks Recommendation of Outperform, which also has a Style Score of an A or a B.
